MNCG1107.A Establish the OH&S Management System

Joncris Sentinel Services will be conducting a workshop based MNCG1107.A Establish the OH&S Management System.

The legislative requirements for a Safety & Health Management System are specified in S.62 of the Coal Mining Safety & Health Act 1999.

The obligation to development and implement lies with the Operator of the mine and the persons appointed to supervisory positions in the management structure and not on individuals or individual Contractors. This requirement was re-enforced by the findings of a Coroners Inquiry into a recent fatal accident at an open cut mine in the Bowen Basin.

There is a National Competency Standard and the onus is on the Mine Operator to ensure that persons appointed to positions of authority under the sites Management Structure are Competent to the Standard required.

We recognise the impact longer workshops have on a business and believe this course format will better suit an organisation who requires their people to attain the competency and yet remain able to fulfil their Safety and Health Obligations and site responsibilities.

To ensure the Workshop runs for 2 days as scheduled, attendees will be provided with course material prior to the workshop and will need to complete the pre-workshop reading material.

Course cost: $2500. (ex Accommodation) or $2850 (inc 2 nights Accommodation)

Location will be in Rockhampton

Dates: TBA

Please contact us ASAP if you wish to attend. Numbers will be restricted to a minimum of 6, maximum of 10 persons.
